PRESS RELEASE

TLLs Publishes First Fiscal Sponsorship Awardee List

Unique Fiscal Sponsorship Program Starting To Catch On!

Lanham, MD, March 2016: The Learners Lab (TLL) today announced it has published its first Fiscal Sponsorship Awardees List in honor of the Programs 6th Month Anniversary.

To date, TLL has awarded Fiscal Sponsorships to the following entities:

1. SwingTyme, a Hand, Swing, & Line Dancing Club for Jazz Lovers
2. Kids Computer Institute & Camp (KCIC), a K-12 Kids Computer Institute & Summer Camps; its parent company IT Technical Institute provides adult and credentialing computer training
3. Teach.org, a Nationwide Teacher Recruiting Program

Girls Tech Too had indicated it plans to present its application for Fiscal Sponsorship this Spring 2016. Their missions will be to Empower, Educate, & Excite Girls into the Technology field.

For more information the Fiscal Sponsorship Program, visit www.TheLearnersLab.org, and navigate to the Fiscal Sponsorship webpage where you'll find both a program description and the application for the 2016 calendar year.

The awardees list may be viewed or downloaded at any time from www.TheLearnersLab.org/Docs/FSawardees.pdf.

The Learners Lab, Inc. (TLL) a charitable workforce training and fiscal sponsorship resource center. A start-up itself, TLL also serves as a fiscal sponsor to other start-ups tax exempt entities. Poised to be the nations, first centralized professional development resource center, TLL's goal is "Training for Everyone."

*The Learners Lab facilities will be located in Prince Georges County, Maryland near its current headquarters in Lanham. TLL is motivated to remove the cost and accessibility barriers that make career and workforce training an impossible challenge for so many to participate in, and plans to offer training resources in a host of industries supporting a broad spectrum of career, with dedicated facilities focusing on discipline specific and vocational trades such as Welding, Mechanical Engineering, and Architectural Design.

*Launched the Fall of 2015, TLL's current activities surround its Fiscal Sponsorship Program. Efforts include securing mentor partnerships, providing grant processing support, and delivering org development technical assistance, and other unique start-up services to its Fiscal Sponsorship Awardees
